Background and Applicability

ICWA and WICWA

Indian Child Welfare Act (ICWA)

Federal Law

Enacted in 1978

Wisconsin Indian Child Welfare Act (WICWA)

Codified into State Statutes

Enacted 2009

ICWA Regulations

Legally-binding guidance

Effective December 12, 2016

WICWA vs. ICWA Regulations

- Both WICWA and ICWA/ICWA Regulations must be complied with in Chapters 48 and 938 proceedings.
  - Where there is a conflict between the two, the one providing the greater protection would apply.
- WICWA already mandates several of the provisions required under the ICWA Regulations.

Active Efforts vs. Reasonable Efforts

- Active efforts pre-dates Reasonable Efforts.
  - The Indian Child Welfare Act created the concept of Active Efforts in 1978.
    - “Gold standard” of child welfare policy.
  - The Adoption Assistance and Child Welfare Act created the concept of Reasonable Efforts in 1980.

Active Efforts vs. Reasonable Efforts

- Two separate standards; occur concurrently.
  - ▣ Different goals: Breakup of Indian family vs. Preserving/reunifying the family (or achieving permanency goal).
    - See: In re Daniel R.S., 2005 WI 160, 286 Wis. 2d 278, 706 N.W.2d 269
  - ▣ Procedural consequence of failure to prove:
    - Reasonable=Title IV-E reimbursement.
    - Active=Invalidation of proceedings.
  - ▣ Exceptions exist for reasonable efforts that do not exist for active efforts.

Active Efforts vs. Reasonable Efforts

- Wisconsin case law has highlighted that there is a cultural component to active efforts.
- In the Interest of J.J., 158 Wis. 2d 353; 462 N.W.2d 551 (Unpublished Ct. App. 1990).
  - ▣ Held that for the active efforts finding, the services must at a minimum demonstrate the sensitivity of court-appointed experts toward Indian culture and traditions that would affect the behavior of the parents being evaluated.

Requirements

Active Efforts Requirements

- The court may not order an Indian child to be removed from the home or involuntarily terminate parental rights unless:
  - There has been an ongoing, vigorous, and concerted level of case work; AND
  - That the active efforts were made in a manner that takes into account the prevailing social and cultural values, conditions, and way of life of the Indian child's tribe; AND...

Active Efforts Requirements (cont'd)

- ▣ Active efforts must be made in a manner that utilizes:
    - The available resources of the Indian child's tribe;
    - Tribal and other Indian child welfare agencies;
    - Extended family members of the Indian child;
    - Other individual Indian caregivers; and
    - Other culturally appropriate service providers.
- [Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)]

Practical Considerations

- ▣ The county child welfare agency or petitioner is responsible for providing active efforts, not the tribe.
  - ▣ Requirement applies in privately-filed TPR and § 48.9795 guardianship proceedings.
  - ▣ Tribal and family (including extended family) consultation is necessary.
  - ▣ Collaboration or providing of services by the tribe is at the discretion of the tribe.

Activities

WICWA vs. ICWA

WICWA

- 9 required activities.
- Agency/petitioner must document reason why any not conducted.

ICWA Regulations

- 11 suggested activities.
- Must be tailored to the facts and circumstances of the case.

ICWA Regulations

- Activities may include:
  1. Conducting comprehensive assessment of the circumstances of the family, with focus on safe reunification as most desirable goal.
  2. Identifying appropriate services & helping overcome barriers with active assistance.
  3. Identifying, notifying, & inviting tribe to participate in providing support and services.
  4. Conducting a diligent search for extended family members; contacting & consulting to provide structure and support to the family.
  5. Offering & employing all available culturally appropriate family preservation strategies.

ICWA Regulations (cont'd)

- Activities may include:
  6. Taking steps to keep siblings together whenever possible.
  7. Supporting regular visits in the most natural setting possible, including trial home visits, consistent with health, safety, & welfare of the child.
  8. Identifying community resources (housing, financial, transport, mental health, AODA, peer support) and actively assist in utilizing and access.
  9. Monitoring progress and participation.
  10. Consider alternatives if optimum services do not exist or are unavailable.
  11. Provide post-reunification services and monitoring.

WICWA Required Activity #1

[Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)1.a.]
  - Contact the tribal child welfare agency for each tribe in which the child may be eligible.

WICWA Required Activity #3

- Representatives of the Indian child's tribe were identified, notified, and invited to participate in all aspects of the Indian child custody proceeding at the earliest possible point in the proceeding and their advice was actively solicited throughout the proceeding.
[Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)1.b.]
- ▣ Provide information to the tribe(s) re: circumstances leading to the county agency's involvement.
- ▣ Actively request advice from the tribe(s) throughout the lifetime of the case.
  - This includes keeping the tribe(s) updated on any changes in circumstances and/or activities that take place in the case, regardless of involvement by the tribe(s).

WICWA Required Activity #4

The county caseworker has made numerous attempts in the following weeks to engage with the child's mother; however, she does not return phone calls, letters, emails, or text messages and will not answer the door.

The case is set for a fact-finding hearing in two weeks.

Case Example: Service Availability

The father of an Indian child who has been removed in a CHIPS case has maintained good contact with the county caseworker, as well as with a tribal caseworker.

The father has previously been diagnosed has suffering from PTSD. He does not have insurances and does not regularly see a counselor or other mental health provider and takes medication sporadically.

The county caseworker assisted the father in applying for medical coverage and made referrals to providers. Appointments are not available for the next six months.

Statement of Active Efforts (IW-1609)

Practical Considerations

- ❑ The court may make active efforts findings at TPC.
- ❑ Findings are required at a fact-finding, disposition (if no fact-finding), consent decree (unless made at an earlier hearing), and for an in-home to out-of-home change in placement.
- ❑ WICWA requires that the court also make the active efforts finding at Permanency Hearings and Extension Hearings.
  - Finding also needs to be made at Permanency Plan Reviews done by the court OR panel.
- ❑ Findings are included on IW circuit court forms.

Practical Considerations

- Active efforts are required in any involuntary TPR, even if the parent admits to the petition.
- Privately filed proceedings must comply with active efforts, even if impractical (e.g.-stepparent adoption).
  - In these circumstances, some courts have held that the onus for active efforts is shared by the court to refer the parent to appropriate rehabilitative services before being able to make TPR findings or enter adoption.

WICWA Required Activities: When Not Conducted

- If any of the activities were not conducted, the person seeking the out-of-home care placement or involuntary termination of parental rights shall submit documentation to the court explaining why the activity was not conducted.
[Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)2.]

Evidentiary Standards

Standard of Evidence: Active Efforts

- In both cases, court or jury must find by clear and convincing evidence that active efforts have been made to prevent the breakup of the Indian child's family and that those efforts have proved unsuccessful.
[Wis. Stat. §§ 48.028(4)(d) and (e)]

Determination by Judge or Jury

- The active efforts and “serious damage” determinations shall be made at the fact-finding hearing by the judge or jury, unless partial summary judgment on the TPR grounds is granted, in which case the judge shall make those determinations at the dispositional hearing.
[Wis. Stat. §§ 48.31(1) and (5)]

Best Interest of an Indian Child

In 2009 the Wisconsin State Legislature unanimously passed the Wisconsin Indian Child Welfare Act (WICWA). The bill was signed into law on December 7, 2009.

In the Wisconsin Children's Code, Chapter 48, the State of Wisconsin declares the best interest of the Indian child shall be in accordance with the federal and state Indian Child Welfare Acts (ICWA). The legislated policy for the State further establishes that courts and agencies responsible for child welfare cooperate fully with Indian tribes to ensure that the federal and state Acts are enforced.

Additionally it is the state's policy to protect the best interest of Indian children and promote the stability and security of Indian tribes and families. Among the practices utilized in preventive placement, and out of home care, as required under WICWA, it is imperative the placement reflect the Tribes' unique values and, "is best able to assist the Indian child in establishing, developing and maintaining a political, cultural, and social relationship with the Indian child's tribe and tribal community." Wis. Stat. §48.01(2)(b)(2)

Agency Responsibility for Active Efforts

Unlike the ICWA's undefined active efforts requirement, WICWA clarifies, with specificity, when in the course of an action a court must make the finding that active efforts have been made. Prior to the enactment of the WICWA, practitioners had little guidance as to what "active efforts" were other than the efforts had to involve the particular tribe or tribes in some way, and that "active efforts" were something more than "reasonable efforts." With the advent of the WICWA, specifically Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g), practitioners now have an articulated "active efforts" standard and a specific list of activities that should be conducted, or at least attempted, in order to meet that standard in both CHIPS and TPR cases. Pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)1, that standard is defined as:

"an ongoing, vigorous, and concerted level of case work ...made in a manner that takes into account the prevailing social and cultural values, conditions, and way of life of the Indian child's tribe and that utilizes the available resources of the Indian child's tribe, tribal and other Indian child welfare agencies, extended family members of the Indian child, other individual Indian caregivers, and other culturally appropriate service providers."

Active Efforts Guidelines

Nine specific activities are listed in Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)1.a.-h. These activities illustrate for the practitioner what "active efforts" look like. Practitioners should also be mindful of the requirement that if any of the nine activities was not conducted, documentation of the reason or reasons the particular activity was not conducted must be submitted to the court, (Wis. Stat. § 48.028(4)(g)2.) It is also important to acknowledge that it is not the obligation of the tribes to meet the active efforts requirement, but the petitioner's obligation to seek and request assistance from the child's tribe to assist the petitioning agency in meeting the requirements.

The following Active Efforts Table provides a guideline to implementing the Active Efforts requirements. Each component offers suggested activities that may assist the child welfare practitioner in meeting the requirement, which may provide benefits to the petitioning agency as it moves through the WICWA case.

Meeting Active Efforts

The agency responsible for providing services to the family has a continuing obligation to make active efforts to provide remedial services and rehabilitative programs to the family through the duration of the action. To ensure that remedial and rehabilitative programs can be instituted in a culturally appropriate and timely manner, active efforts should commence when an Indian child comes to the attention of the state system. Because of the ongoing obligation to make active efforts, the WICWA requires the court to make this finding at multiple stages of the proceeding depending upon the type of proceeding.
